2022 Outlook: Inflation Focus

February 10, 2022

Inflation: Where We Stand Today

- Consumer Price Index (CPI) rose 7.5 percent year-over-year as of February 10, 2022. That is the largest annual gain in nearly 40 years. Recent headline figures were materially impacted by energy. Broad energy prices were up 27 percent, propelled by motor fuel prices rising 46.5 percent in the last year.
- In January, the Federal Reserve once again acknowledged elevated inflation levels and signaled a higher likelihood of increasing the Fed Funds Rate at its March 15/16, 2022 meeting, but only after eliminating the current Quantitative Easing (QE) program. The has priced a high likelihood of a 0.25 percent move, but has not removed the possibility of a 0.50 percent move.

Policy Maker Tightrope

The background of the slide features a close-up, low-angle shot of several classical columns, likely from a government building or institution. The columns are made of light-colored stone or marble and have a fluted design. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, creating a sense of grandeur and authority. The columns recede into the distance, adding depth to the image.

When referencing asset class returns or statistics, the following indices are used to represent those asset classes, unless otherwise notes. Each index is unmanaged, and investors can not actually invest directly into an index:

- The S&P 500 is a capitalization-weighted index designed to measure performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries.
- Russell 1000 Growth measures the performance of those Russell 1000 companies with higher P/B ratios and higher forecasted growth values.
- Russell 1000 Value measures the performance of those Russell 1000 companies with lower P/B ratios and lower forecasted growth values.

P&I's Consultant Ranking is a proprietary survey produced by Pension & Investment. Results are based on 71 questionnaire responses sent to 213 consultants determined by P&I that self-reported institutional assets under advisement as of June 30, 2021. Consultants with multiple subsidiaries are asked to provide information on a consolidated basis. There is no fee associated with participating in the ranking. The ranking is not indicative of Fiducient Advisor's future performance.
